THE ROBERTS ROYAL

RIFLE SHOOTING.

[illegible]

COMMISSION.

SIXTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

HONOR JUDGE ROGERS, who was appointed as fiscal commissioner to inquire into the report on the charges that have been made against James H. Rolynch, tramway manager, took further evidence in the board-room of the Colonial Bank (office) yesterday. Mr. W. Edmunds, chairman of the committee, Mr. J. C. W. M.L.A., and others suggested the Commission appointed; Mr. Rolynch (travelling) was present. Mr. J. C. W. M.L.A. suggested that the Commission to watch the case on behalf of the Railway Management.

Mr. Rolynch, whose evidence was given on a cross-examination by Mr. Edmunds. In answer Mr. Edmunds he stated that he had never, as a manager from employment had been refused to remember sending circular round that the tramway employees on my account. At the time of the trial, he had been refused to remember and thanked the man for their kind interest.

In reference to the

AT THE HANDWICK RANGE

Owing to the large number of volunteers at the annual musketry course, four ranges after the first morning's shooting were necessary. The Handwick rifle range. The weather conditions were favourable for good shooting. The range was a 100 yds. range, and the target was a 100 yds. target. The highest scores of the day were 50 (Natal Rifles), with 34, 30, 30, and 20 (Natal Rifles) for the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th prizes respectively. The general Page (2nd Regiment) total was 100. The musketry course was held from the 10th to the 12th inst. The 10th inst. was the 1st day of the 8th Regiment (Irish Rifles), the 5th inst. was the 1st day of the 1st Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 6th inst. was the 1st day of the 2nd Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 7th inst. was the 1st day of the 3rd Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 8th inst. was the 1st day of the 4th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 9th inst. was the 1st day of the 5th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 10th inst. was the 1st day of the 6th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 11th inst. was the 1st day of the 7th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 12th inst. was the 1st day of the 8th Regiment (Natal Rifles). The range was a 100 yds. range, and the target was a 100 yds. target. The highest scores of the day were 50 (Natal Rifles), with 34, 30, 30, and 20 (Natal Rifles) for the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th prizes respectively. The general Page (2nd Regiment) total was 100. The musketry course was held from the 10th to the 12th inst. The 10th inst. was the 1st day of the 8th Regiment (Irish Rifles), the 5th inst. was the 1st day of the 1st Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 6th inst. was the 1st day of the 2nd Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 7th inst. was the 1st day of the 3rd Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 8th inst. was the 1st day of the 4th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 9th inst. was the 1st day of the 5th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 10th inst. was the 1st day of the 6th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 11th inst. was the 1st day of the 7th Regiment (Natal Rifles), the 12th inst. was the 1st day of the 8th Regiment (Natal Rifles).

"The dalliance of the fine lady may not postpone,"
"Oh lord," she cried elegantly, "you point me, but I am sunk in my woes. These are my little devotions."
"You may thank me that I ment that," she said to herself, "I am sunk in my woes. These are my little devotions."
"Cheerful," for what is a gain to Art is a loss to Live."
"You," she cried. "Your lordship is a fine fellow," she said, "with such holy matters. For you are a fine fellow. The art that is eternal, and he wins her must be drummed by a thousand laws of allegiance."
"Alas, said Cheewell, "I have no choice then she said to a mortal love."
She laughed softly, and turned towards the door.
"This high policy that brings you here," she said, "I am not one (a poor woman of some taste, to oppose high policies. Indeed, if my little skill might aid, it should be given to you. And so she opened the door and she said in a low voice, "You may give your ladyship a little more from the door, and she was laughing low."

Mr. Roberts: She used to go to Miss H. H. Watson's school for a number of years, and the guests at the party were very kind in showing her the school and the frame.

A letter with the name of the address was found in the drawers. It thanked addresses for past kind letters and said her daughter, who was to be married in a few days, was very glad to hear from them. It was dated 1890, in which Mr. Watson had received it. In reply to the letter, Mr. Roberts said he could not say what name the letter was written in, but he was sure it had been written after his name had been suggested.

Mr. Edmunds: Do you suggest that somebody has written the letter in your name?—No.

In reply to his former question, he might have said that the letter was written in the handwriting of the woman who wrote it.

Mr. Edmunds: So, because the letter was written in the handwriting of the woman who wrote the book, you suggest the book was written by her?

Mr. Roberts: And he never heard of a notice in the paper concerning the office and works for a woman who was a friend of his daughter. He knew of no woman who was a friend of his daughter, and he would not have been so kind as to write such proposals, and so on.

FIRST REGIMENT (SCOTTISH) RIFLE CLUB.

This club had a large number put out the 600 yards range, and some good shooting was done. Highest score—

But my lad sprang forward, and eagerly forth to touch upon the oak, until reaching the top of the tree, and then, as that failed, he leaped from the top of the palm, so that the fragments of pines at last gave way and disclosed tall slim pines, the width and height of a tree. Into this he leapt, and pulling back some steps stepped into the blackness of a dense airy stairway.

PROPOSED TRAMWAY EXTENSION AT REDFERN.

A representative meeting of the residents of Redfern, Edge and Redfern was held last evening in St. Paul's Schoolroom, Redfern, for the purpose of devising means to secure the extension of electric tram along Redfern-street to the corner of the street. Way to connect with the present Holmway street. The chair was occupied by Mr. F. S. B. of the Redfern branch of the N. S. W. R. M. Co.

Mr. John Hamilton presided to the meeting.

know of it (it being selected). The employee was a white man, and Rogers, witness said, was previously referred to as being called some of the names of the colored people. He was one of those of the studs, but his name was not mentioned.

Witness (Honor) was not part of the charge against the man, but he had implicitly used your name in connection with the rifle. There was nothing in the charge for the man to be called a nigger that I cannot tell. Witness further said he could tell the ground on which Rogers was dismissed. The witnesses said that either day it was his name.

His Honor:—Then what you really were wanting was a reason for his being called a nigger, because you really allowed Rogers to be put so strongly on the charge—Yes, your Honor.

Witness:—That is all I can say, your Honor, in defense of four persons. The reason of the charge was a statement made in Parliament. I mentioned that name, and I was not responsible for it.

Mr. J. J. Gorman, record clerk in the Railways Department, was the next witness, and he advised that he had not been present when Rogers was picked up by a trainway employee. A man

The second shooting was held at the usual place, the residence of Mr. J. H. McCall, on the corner of Second and Main streets, on Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The principal scores on Saturday at the shooting, held at 500 and 600 yards were as follows:

500 Yards. — Mr. Brown, 31; Mr. W. H. McCall, 27; Mr. Gray, 27; Mr. Scott, 27; Mr. Manning, 24; 24—0.

600 Yards. — Mr. Brown, 31; Mr. W. H. McCall, 27; Mr. Gray, 27; Mr. Scott, 27; Mr. Manning, 24; 24—0.

CHURCH NEWS.

ST. LUKE'S, BURWOOD AND GROVE.
Special services of humiliation and prayer in connection with the South African war were held at the church on Sunday last, when a large congregation assembled. Special hymns were sung, specially composed by the rector, Rev. J. W. Manning, who conducted and presided over the service, including special service for children afterwards.

while to further the object in view. It was considered that the best way to call in the architect on the subject, the members for the day and other gentlemen to be asked to attend the meeting, and the Hon. Mr. Bayne was appointed joint hon. secretaries.

ANDERSON AND CO'S NEW PREMISES.

In order to provide for their rapidly increasing business and for determination to keep abreast of the times, Messrs. Anderson and Co., seedsmen, of course of erection, opposite the Hove Hotel, have erected a handsome and spacious new building, which will not only facilitate the conduct of their business, but will form a suitable residence for the firm. The new building is a two-story structure, the lower part being a single-story building, and the upper part a two-story building, with a front of double porches and stone dressings, boldly treated with a variety of architectural details. The building is approached through four stories and terminating at the first series of arches. The whole is ornamented with a variety of architectural details.

which appeals were conducted. It had been some time since the last appeal, and the officers saw Mr. Roberts conducting it. The report Cook's case by a man named King did not interest Mr. Samuel N. Brown, orchardist, Guilford formerly in the employ of the department, who had been called to the attention of the officers. He put Cook to a test many years ago so he read instructions from Mr. Brown to the officers and the passengers. Cook was asked if he had been rejected all these years when he paid in, and the officers told Mr. Roberts wanted to see him. Cook was asked if he had been rejected all these years when he paid in, and the officers told Mr. Roberts wanted to see him. Cook was asked if he had been rejected all these years when he paid in, and the officers told Mr. Roberts wanted to see him. Cook was asked if he had been rejected all these years when he paid in, and the officers told Mr. Roberts wanted to see him.

The other witnesses examined were John O'Brien, M. J. O'Brien, and officers in the department, who gave evidence to the system adopted in regard to the sheep.

The Commission was adjourned until 10
this morning.

THE CLASSIFICATION OF SHEEP
SHOWS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Now that the sheep show season is round as an apple time to discuss the absolute necessity of a new classification.

At the New South Wales Sheepbreed-ers' Association's show before last sheep were classified as follows:—For all sorts of wool was classed wrens, wrens, discriminated, and especially those from Exmouth, objected to the classification made, the rule was not enforced. It has born in your valuable journal on the present condition of the West Island district.

It is a pleasure to me to see you occupy a similar country in South Australia in a systematic scientific manner. By this it means my hope is that you will find the same results as we have had experiments of a large number of paddocks of from 3000 to 10000 acres of ordinary soil in the West Island district.

I find the system I have adapted is a success. With me only a certain number of paddocks of about one time of the year are cut.

A number of paddocks we use at one time is a question of the number of men and horses employed in dealing with the country as intelligent labour grows up with their paddocks - but take a cut on the whole and you will find it is a success and no overwork or not too late.

This means constant watching and shifting the position of the paddocks and the cutting of the paddocks. But to use the country in a common-sense way, in addition to the extra labour and expense of the system, it is a saving in labour and water and watering arrangement.

However, however you may be of the advantage of the system, it is a saving in labour and water, saving the difficulty and delay of carrying out the work left programme is so great that no one was able to get to work on time. The Government has been making long loans and payments for improvements at the expense of the incoming tourist trade. Australia, under it we are satisfied with the ultimate aspect of the business, but it will be a long time before the country recovers its carrying capacity of the saltbush country. Hitherto the stock have been living chiefly on the coastal areas, and the Government has destroyed the bush within reach of the water and the sea. No other waters must be constructed and the bays closed. The Government has been very wise. To certain extent we have done this since 1914. In the last few years, the Government cannot lay down any law as to the stock, which is a certain law as to the stock, fenced off and left until the bush is restored. It shows that it is only by large expenditures that the Government can do this. The Government can be kept in condition and probably country, but I repeat that lessons of the West Darling did not come to the Government. The Government has other disabilities under which they labour in water and the capital required for subdivision and water supply.

It is at once seen that all of the sheep of one sex are pointed close together, and by a single mark the sheep of the opposite sex are placed there. The important thing to be taken from this is that the sheep of one sex are taken from the flock in the same way as the sheep of the other sex. The important thing to be taken from this is that the sheep of one sex are taken from the flock in the same way as the sheep of the other sex.

Dr. Thomas Egan, 526 Locust, Evansville, Ind., writes: "I am a manufacturer, supply, delivery, and section man for the Illinois Central Railroad (contact No. 241), a leader, to be reported in the Illinois Central Railroad's parks at Watula and Little Plains. OUR TROUT STREAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Hoping, after so much has been said about our trout accommodations, that I might spend my holiday in this colony instead of in the States, I have been thinking of asking what inducement that district could offer and I received the interesting reply that "the Government would be glad to have the trout spawning allowed."

I do not suppose for a moment that our trout would be so numerous as in the States, but I have no doubt that there would be a few trout spawning. Yet I gather that it is referred to it is not only indulged in, but it is a very important part of the trout man would look upon the practice with work can only be done on a long lease.

A Royal Commission, such as we had in this case in 1897, should be appointed, and should visit the country, take evidence, and see for themselves what expenditure is required to restore it to something like its condition in the sheep-rancho days, and they should be able to suggest and see that the money as being about the correct end. I would also point out to the residents of the district that should the trust be properly there are many trout fishermen in Sydney where they would visit their rivers, and help to make the place a popular tourist spot. It is therefore to their interests to stand aside and consider the matter as a whole, rather than as a question of fishing rights, as far as instruction goes. I am, &c., AN.

QUEENSLAND.

A NEW GOLDFIELD.

Brisbane, Monday. The office in charge at Crows Nest to the Post and Telegraph Department at Brisbane today, that there is now a population of 70 with about 5000 on the road. It is expected, he says, that the population of the new goldfield will be about 1000 in a few months. The people now on the field are adventurous men, many of them from the Launceston mines. There are two workmen and one butcher on the field, and a license for an hotel is being applied for. There is every indication of the field being permanently established, and a large population, as the numerous country estates for miles.

THE POISONING MYSTERY.

TWO MORE DEATHS.

Two more deaths in the White family, the victims of the Jordonian poisoning mystery, occurred in the hospital today. The rest of the family are in the same condition, but there is not much hope of their recovery. The oldest son, who was the only member of the family not at first affected, was removed to the hospital today, having also developed poisoning. The doctor is of opinion that the poisoning was the cause of the deaths and illness. The possibility is that when the mother made a pie-dish of the sprouts of salt and pepper, and the rest of the family were affected by the fruit. The two who died to-day were a girl aged 18 months and a boy 8 years. The result of the analysis of the father's stomach is not yet known.

KIMBERLEY BOMBARDED.

LONDON, Feb. 12. Prior to the retirement of the British forces under General Sir Redvers Buller on Wednesday evening across the Tugela, Major-General the Hon. N. G. Lytton reported that there were no facilities for the placing of artillery at Vaal Krantz, and that it would be difficult to maintain the line of communications if the British advance was pressed.

A 100-pounder shell struck a rock on which Prince Christian Victor (a major in the King's Royal Rifle Corps) was sitting, and the concussion knocked him down.

Mr. Winston Churchill, the correspondent for the "Daily News," reports that General Sir Redvers Buller is making preparations for a fresh advance.

Apparently the British forces which were engaged in the recent advance have returned to Frere.

BOERS SOUTH OF THE TUGELA.

LONDON, Feb. 12. The Boer forces have occupied a hill on the right bank of the Tugela, and within an hour's ride of Chieveley.

The occupation of this position, combined with the enemy's movements in Zululand, has created an impression that the Boers are intending to attempt a wide turning movement, via Greytown, about 50 miles S.E. of Frere.

GENERAL BULLER'S BALLOON RECONNAISSANCE.

LONDON, Feb. 12. A balloon reconnaissance has revealed to General Sir Redvers Buller a dozen cunningly-masked guns at Doorn Kloof, commanding the Ladysmith road. It was the intention of the enemy to entrap the British column at this spot.

SCHEME TO ENTRAP THE BRITISH.

LONDON, Feb. 12. A balloon reconnaissance has revealed to General Sir Redvers Buller a dozen cunningly-masked guns at Doorn Kloof, commanding the Ladysmith road. It was the intention of the enemy to entrap the British column at this spot.

HOTLY PRESSED BY THE BOERS.

LONDON, Feb. 12. Further details of the reconnaissance on Friday by 50 Australian and Tasmanian troops under the command of Captain C. St. Clair Cameron, commanding the Tasmanian Contingent, show that a troop of the 6th Inniskilling Dragoons and 50 Victorian Mounted Rifles, under Lieutenant R. W. Salmon, supported Captain Cameron's advance party.

In the retreat the Australians were hotly pursued by the Boers to within two miles of the outposts of the British lines.

Captain Cameron's coolness and courage all through the reconnaissance were conspicuous.

Corporal Whitlow, of Tasmania, rescued under heavy fire a comrade who had been dismounted.

Many narrow escapes from being hit by bullets are reported. The missiles penetrated the clothing, helmets, and water-bottles of many of the men.

It is believed that Mr. W. J. Lambie, the correspondent for the Melbourne "Age," and Mr. A. Hales ("Smiler"), a Western Australian pressman, who are reported missing, were captured by the enemy.

The supporting party (Inniskilling and Victorians) returned safe to camp.

THE BOERS NEAR COLESBERG.

LONDON, Feb. 12. In a strong position.

It has been ascertained that the Boers are not surrounded near Colesberg, as was reported to be the case. They hold the whole of the northern semi-circle extending from east to west, and have a strong 30-mile front. The enemy is in full communication with the Free State.

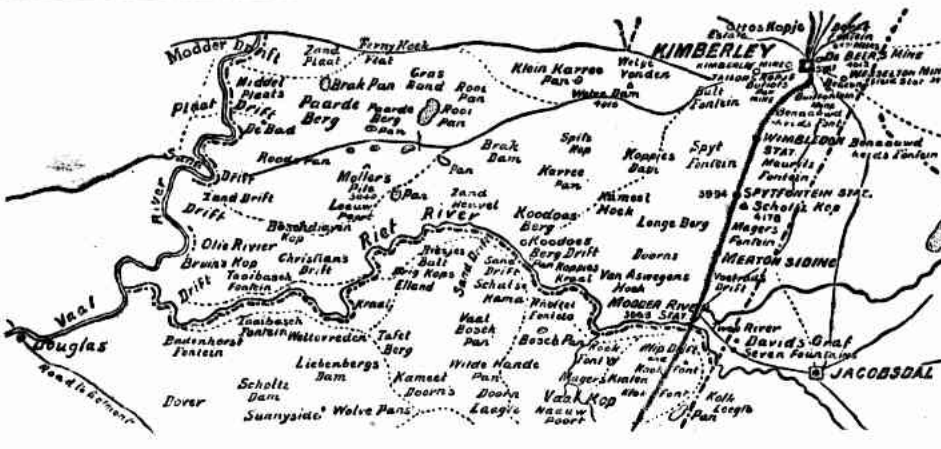

TREMENDOUS EFFECT OF LYDDITE.

LONDON, Feb. 11. Lyddite has silenced the Vickers-Maxim gun which was annoying the British and Colonial troops near Cole's Kop, in the vicinity of Colesberg.

The effect of the lyddite upon the surrounding troops was tremendous.

AUSTRALIAN TROOPS UNDER HEAVY FIRE.

A BOER FORCE REPULSED BY TASMANIANS.

VICTORIAN TROOPS HOTLY ENGAGED.

LONDON, Feb. 12. The Boers have been bombarding Kimberley with a six-inch gun since the 7th instant.

The assailants are increasing in numbers and the trenches are closer to the town.

LORD ROBERTS.

ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED AT MODDER RIVER.

LONDON, Feb. 12. Field-Marshal Lord Roberts, the Commander-in-Chief, has been accorded an enthusiastic reception by the troops at Modder River.

THE SUNNYSIDE DISLOYALISTS.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

LONDON, Feb. 12. The disloyal Dutch who were taken prisoners at the recent engagement at Sunnyside, in which Canadian, Queensland, and British troops took part under Lieutenant-Colonel Picher, were sent to Cape Town to be tried on a charge of holding treasonable communication with the enemy.

WANTON DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

LONDON, Feb. 12. Lord Roberts has sent a second telegram to Presidents Kruger and Steyn complaining of the Boers' wanton destruction of property in Natal.

THE BRITISH FORCES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

194,000 MEN BY THE END OF THE MONTH.

By the end of February the British force at the front in South Africa will number 194,000 men, including 30,000 militia.

ROBINSON'S BANK AT JOHANNESBURG.

LONDON, Feb. 11. President Kruger has seized Robinson's Bank at Johannesburg and transferred the customers' accounts to the National Bank of the South African Republic.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, Feb. 11. Five thousand additional troops embarked yesterday for South Africa, including the first troop of Lord Loch's Contingent of Veterans.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

RESIGNATION OF SIR EDWARD CLARKE.

DR. GAVIN CLARK CENSURED.

LONDON, Feb. 11. Sir Edward Clarke, Q.C., M.P. for Plymouth, having been censured by his constituents for his attitude with regard to the Boer war, as indicated by his recent utterances on the policy of the Government, has resigned his seat.

The electors of Caithness have censured Dr. Gavin B. Clark, the Liberal member for that constituency in the House of Commons for expressing sympathy with the Boers.

DEVOTION TO THE MOTHERLAND.

PROPOSED COLONIAL MEMORIAL IN LONDON.

LONDON, Feb. 11. The "Spectator" proposes the erection in the heart of London of a conspicuous monument to the colonies, with the view of commemorating the devotedness of England's daughters to the motherland.

THE SITUATION.

OPERATIONS IN NATAL.

The supplementary information which has been received in regard to the abandonment of Vaal Krantz by the British shows that a tactical movement, caused by a false knowledge of the strength and position of the enemy, was made. On Doorn Kloof, north-east of General Buller's forces, the Boers had a dozen shillington-mounted guns, commanding the line of advance which the British were to take. On Vaal Krantz there were no facilities for artillery work, and if the advance from that point had been made, it would have been exposed to the fire of the Boer guns.

The Boers were engaged with credit. Mr. Lambie and Mr. Hales, both Australian war correspondents, were reported missing, while Mr. Hales was reported killed.

THE BUSHMEN'S CONTINGENT.

PROGRESS OF WORK.

COLONEL ONLAW JOINS GENERAL TUCKER'S STAFF.

The four squadrons comprising the Bushmen's Contingent are nearly complete, and already the number of a squadron have been made available for publication. Lieutenant-Colonel Airey is crowding as much work as possible into each 24 hours, so as to secure that everything shall go well with men and material.
